

Just For Paws Veterinary Hospital
Dental Release Form

Owner's Name _____ Date _____
Pet's Name _____ Sex _____ Age _____ Color _____
Daytime Phone #: _____ Home Phone #: _____

Please read carefully and sign:

Often during dental exams, we find problems with the teeth or gums that are not apparent on the gross physical exam of the mouth. We would appreciate knowing ahead of time how you would like us to handle these situations. There are several ways we can proceed with your pet's dental care.

Initial Below

1) Call first before proceeding:

- A) If you cannot reach me, please proceed with what is necessary (see prices below)
- B) If you cannot reach me, please do not perform any additional procedures

2) Proceed with any necessary dental procedures.....

- A) If there is a chance to save a tooth with a root canal procedure, would you prefer to save the tooth and have a endodontic specialist see your pet at a later date

ALL PATIENTS WITH ABNORMAL TOOTH PATHOLOGY WILL HAVE X-RAYS TAKEN

Dental Digital X-rays: $40.70 to $162.78 (depending on number of x-rays)

ALL PATIENTS UNDERGOING TOOTH EXTRACTION WILL RECEIVE A DENTAL NERVE BLOCK

Dental Nerve Block(s): $26.18 to $27.54/ patient

Incisor Extraction: $26.49/ tooth Premolar/Molar Extraction: $40.40/tooth Baby Tooth Extraction: $26.49/tooth

Canine Extraction Dog: $248.02/tooth Canine Extraction Cat: $124.01/tooth

Consil Bio-glass (to help bone re-growth): $95.00 (Often needed for lower canine extractions)

Carnassial/Three-Rooted Tooth Extraction: $127.50/tooth Doxirobe Periodontal Treatment Gel: $87.23/syringe

*These procedures often need additional anesthesia. Each additional ½ hour of anesthesia costs $35.24. Depending on the disease, 1-3 teeth can be removed with each ½ hour of anesthesia

SIGNATURE: _____ DATE: _____